The school year begins with a hesitant awareness of what is to come. Once again the random gambols of summer yield to the ineluctable three Furies—"Readin', Ritin', and sultry 'Rithmetic. We fall into the routine pattern with amazing swiftness. But there is also present the knowledge that this year will be different from all others. Perhaps you'll start going with what's-his-name, or not have that crotchety old Mrs. So-and-so for English. At any rate, Groveton's there, and you are once again a part of it. Enter. Action.

Student and teacher should share the desire to learn from each other. The real learning finds its source not in the textbook but in the willingness to search and discover, for better or worse. The student is successful to the extent that he makes use of the opportunities for his education, in the largest sense.

The teacher who can make those opportunities worth pursuing for the student is truly exercising his honored profession. When student and teacher can exchange roles freely, effortlessly—when person-to-person education is really happening, it is a wonderful thing.

I watch and spread your smile and pause in life's fitful running to know this moment's bliss with you.

After six weeks of hard practice comes the first game, and the season begins. The fans come in every weather and watch the games. The band plays faithfully and well, and we hear the good old Tiger fight songs through thick and thin. At season's end they can feel proud to have done the job.

HOMECOMING QUEEN: Debbi White

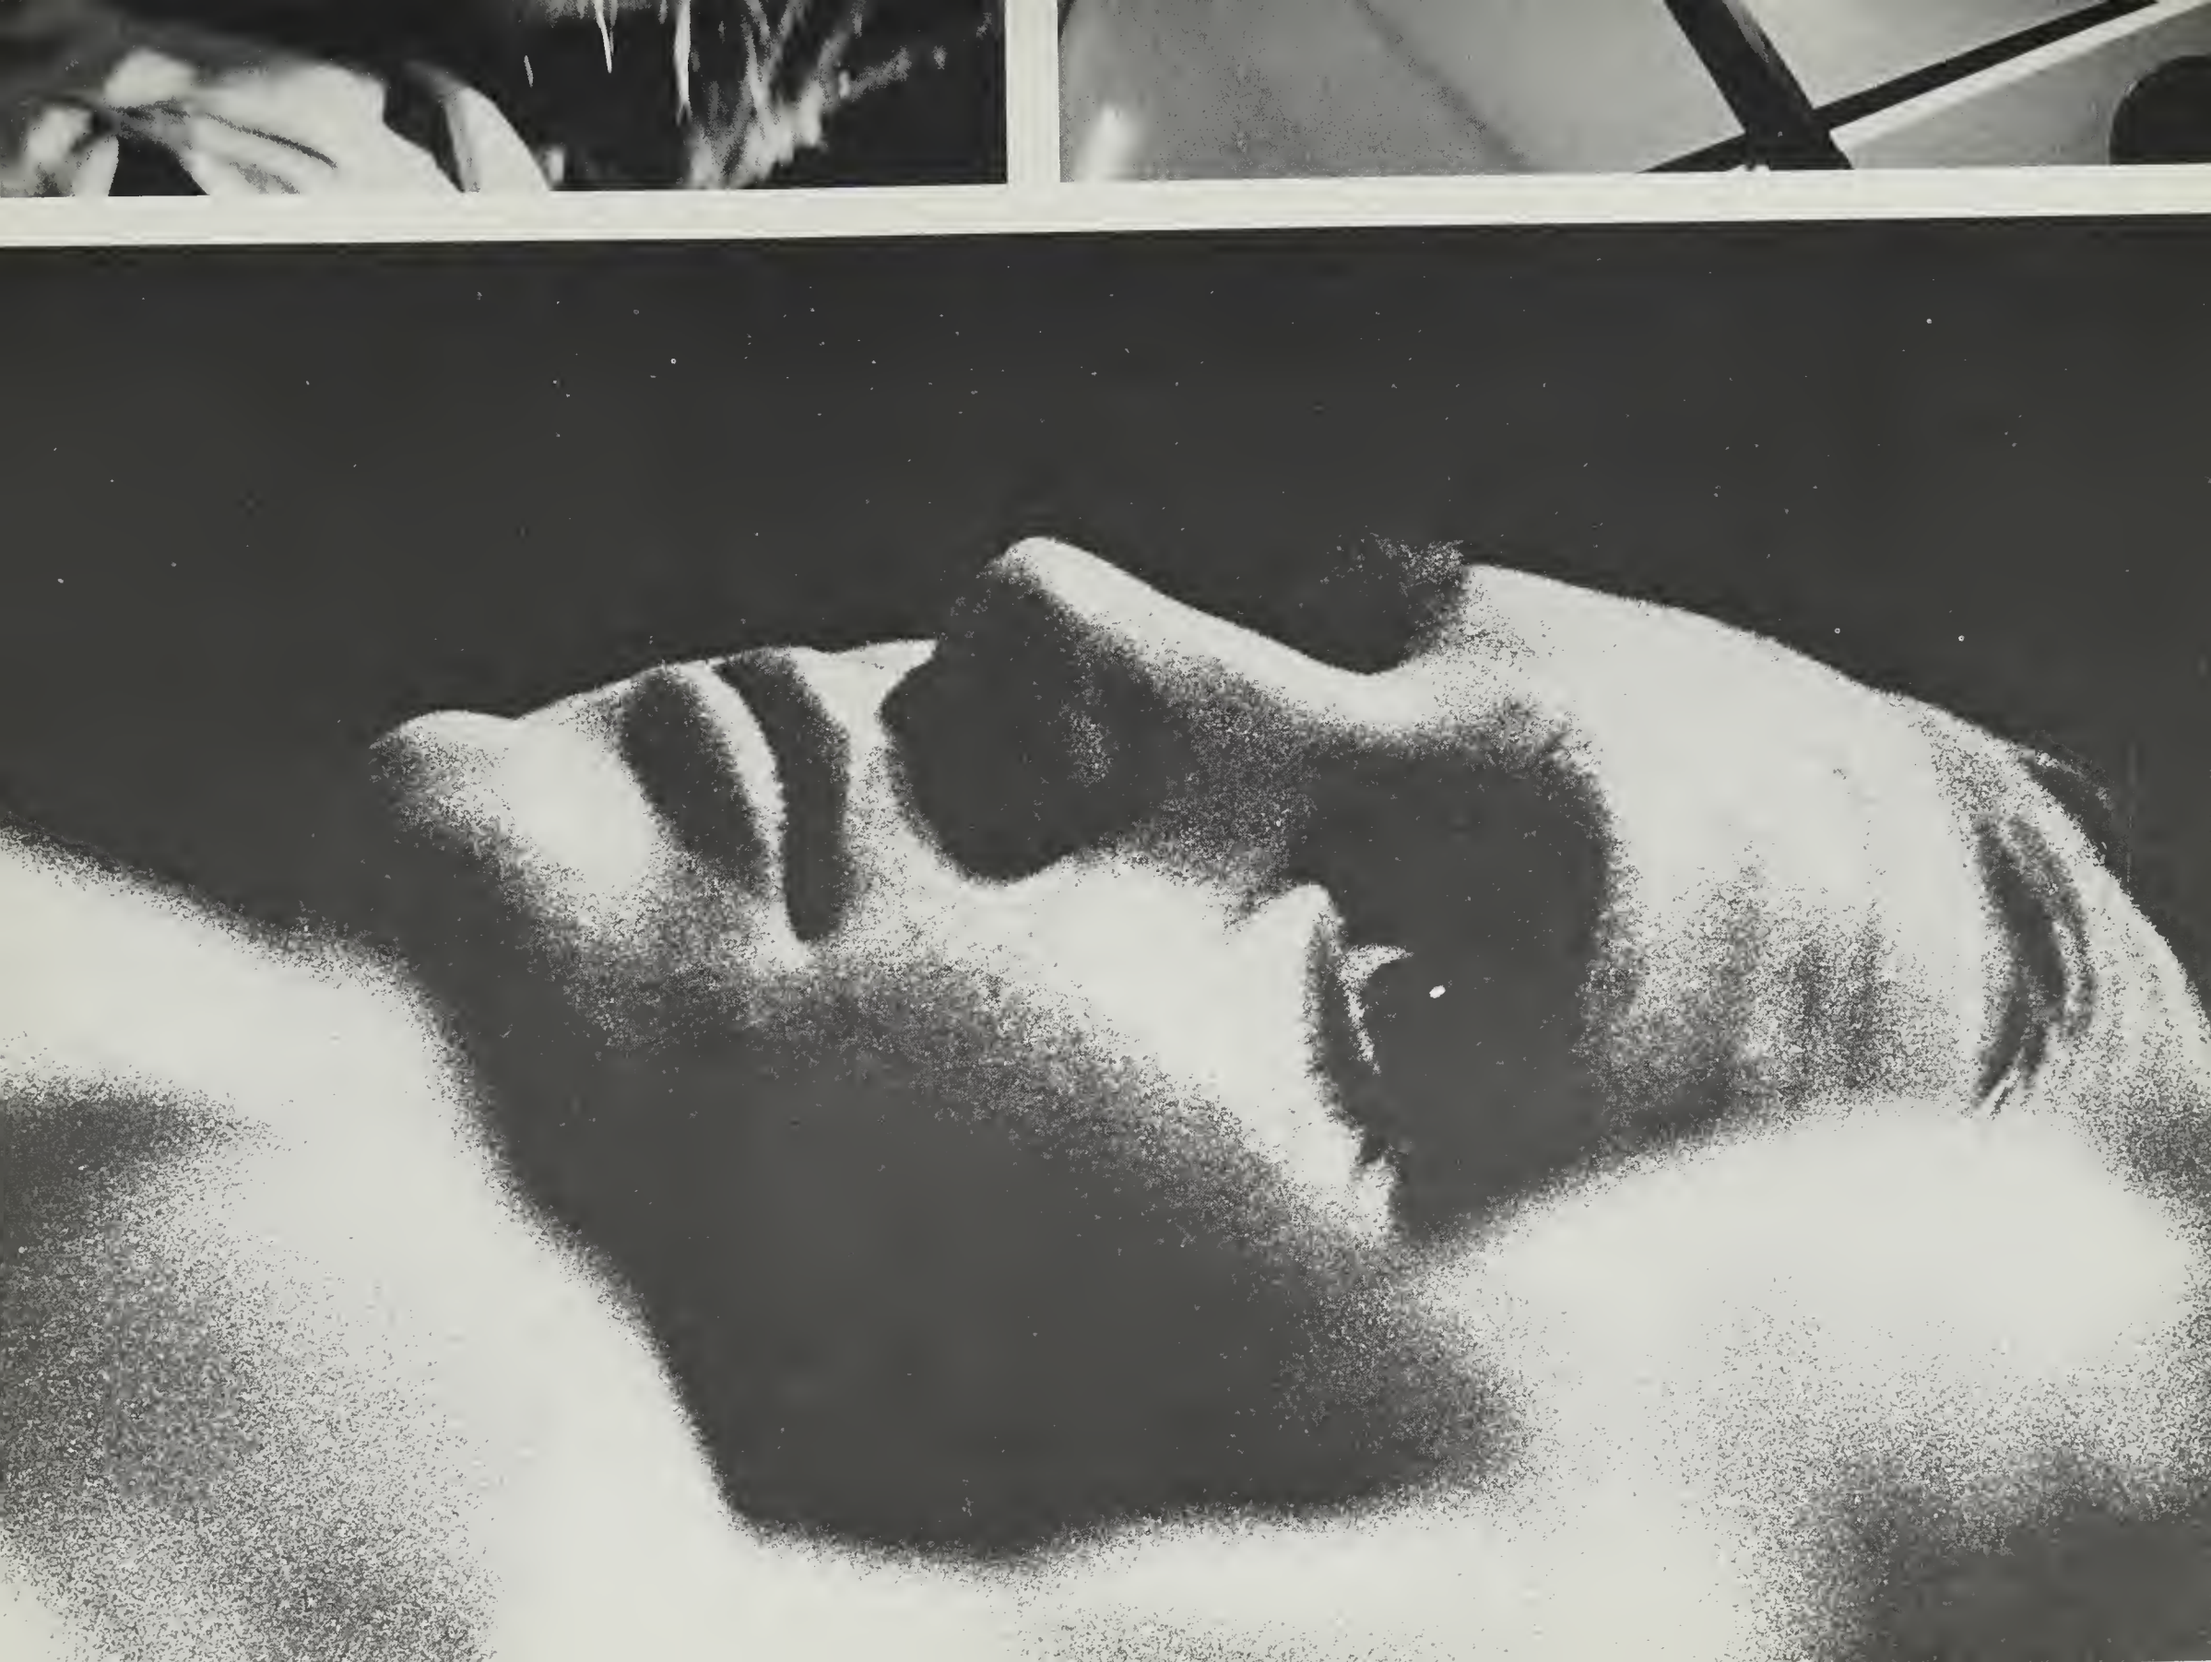
HOMECOMING

Court: Seated: Bonnie Harder, Suzette Smith, Debby Stinnett. Standing: Carol Tallman, Vickie Ingham, Patty Crawford.

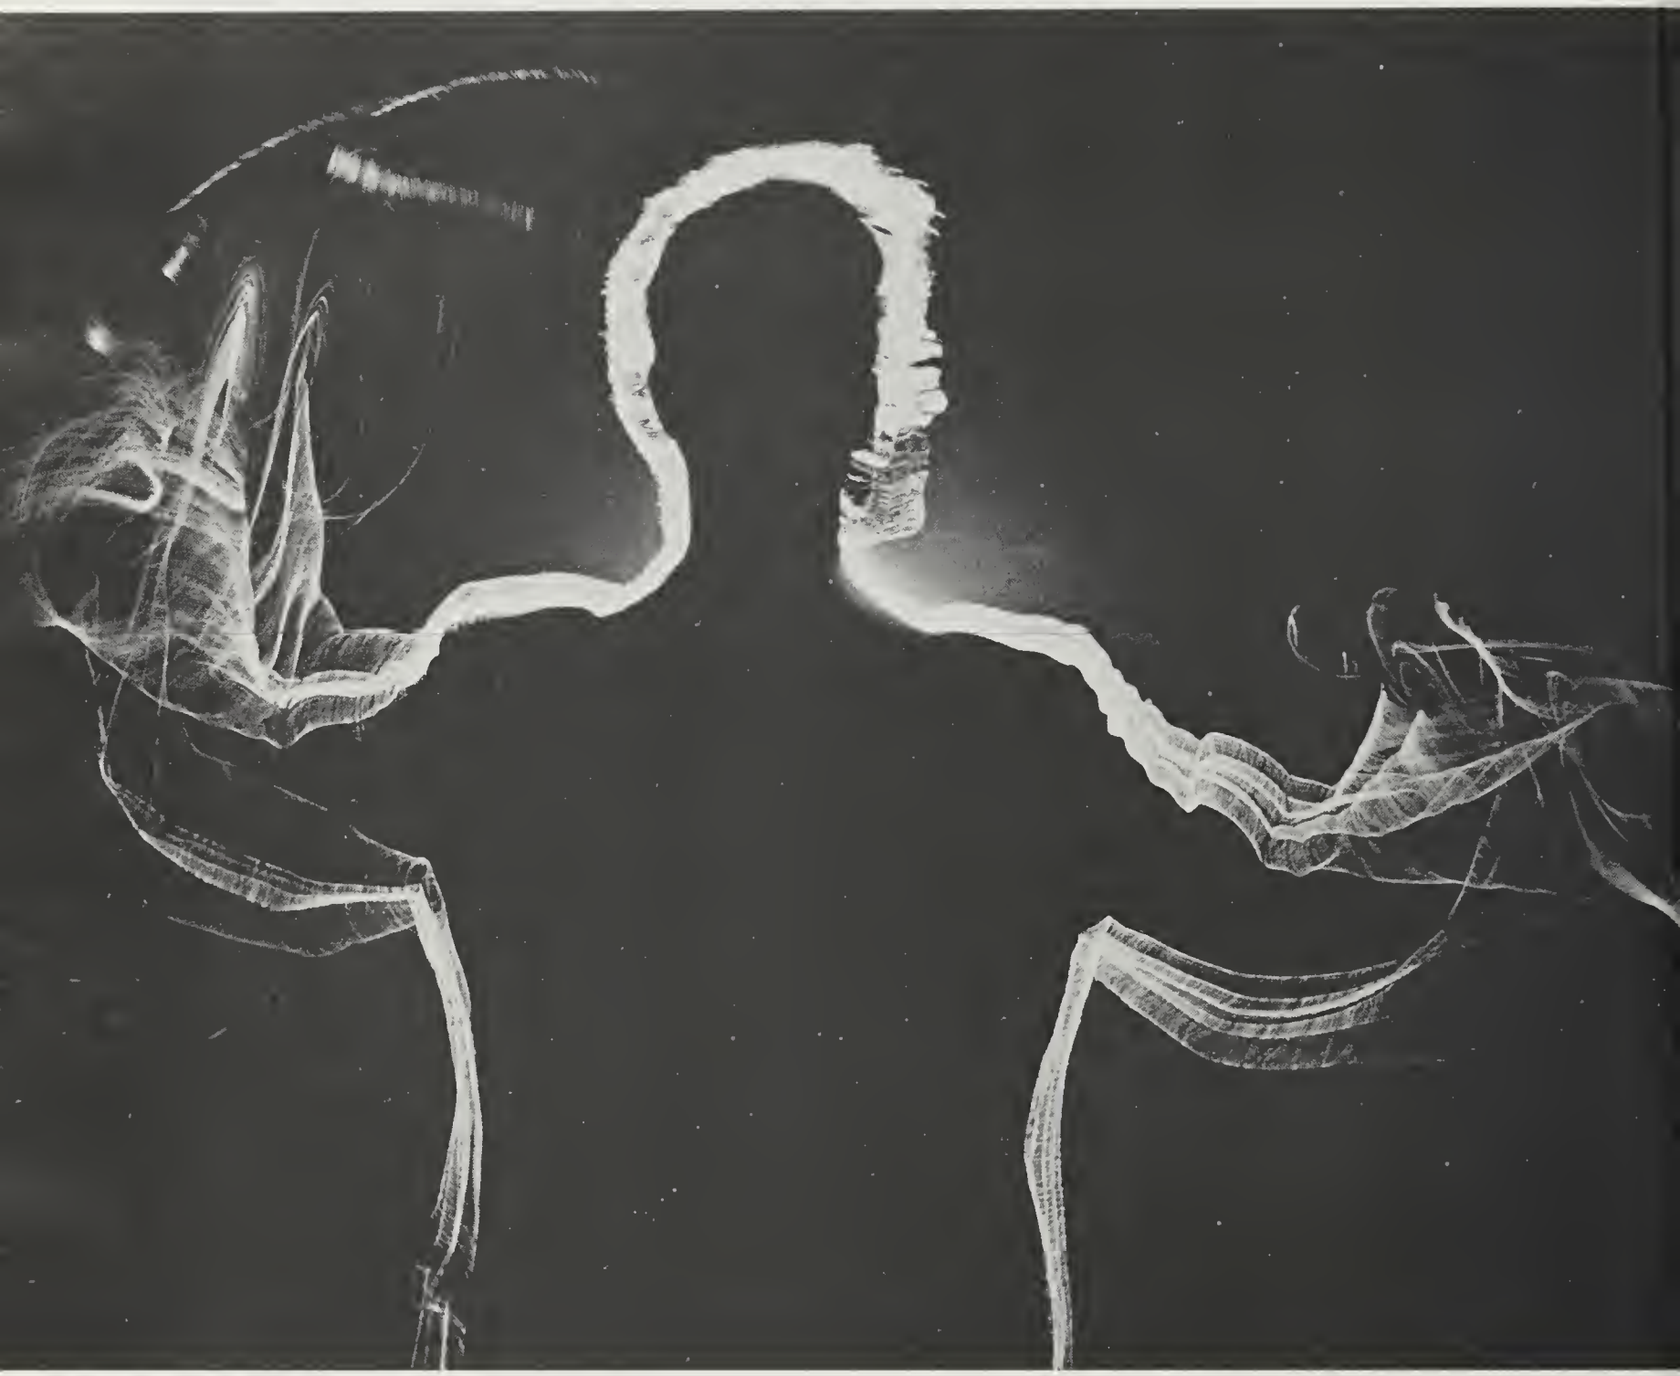
You want your team to win, and they want to win, too. But what you want and what the ref gives you may be two different things. And it's anybody's guess just what sort of tricks that roundball will be made to do.

Our daily peregrinations to, from, and in school take us many miles each school year. Maybe it is their necessity that renders them endurable. Of course, we do occasionally buck the system; and the happiest trips are those in the away direction. This much can be said: such mandatory migrations prepare us well for later life, for, alas! the time demands on us will yet multiply. Perhaps, though, there is a heightened appreciation of precious free time when it comes.

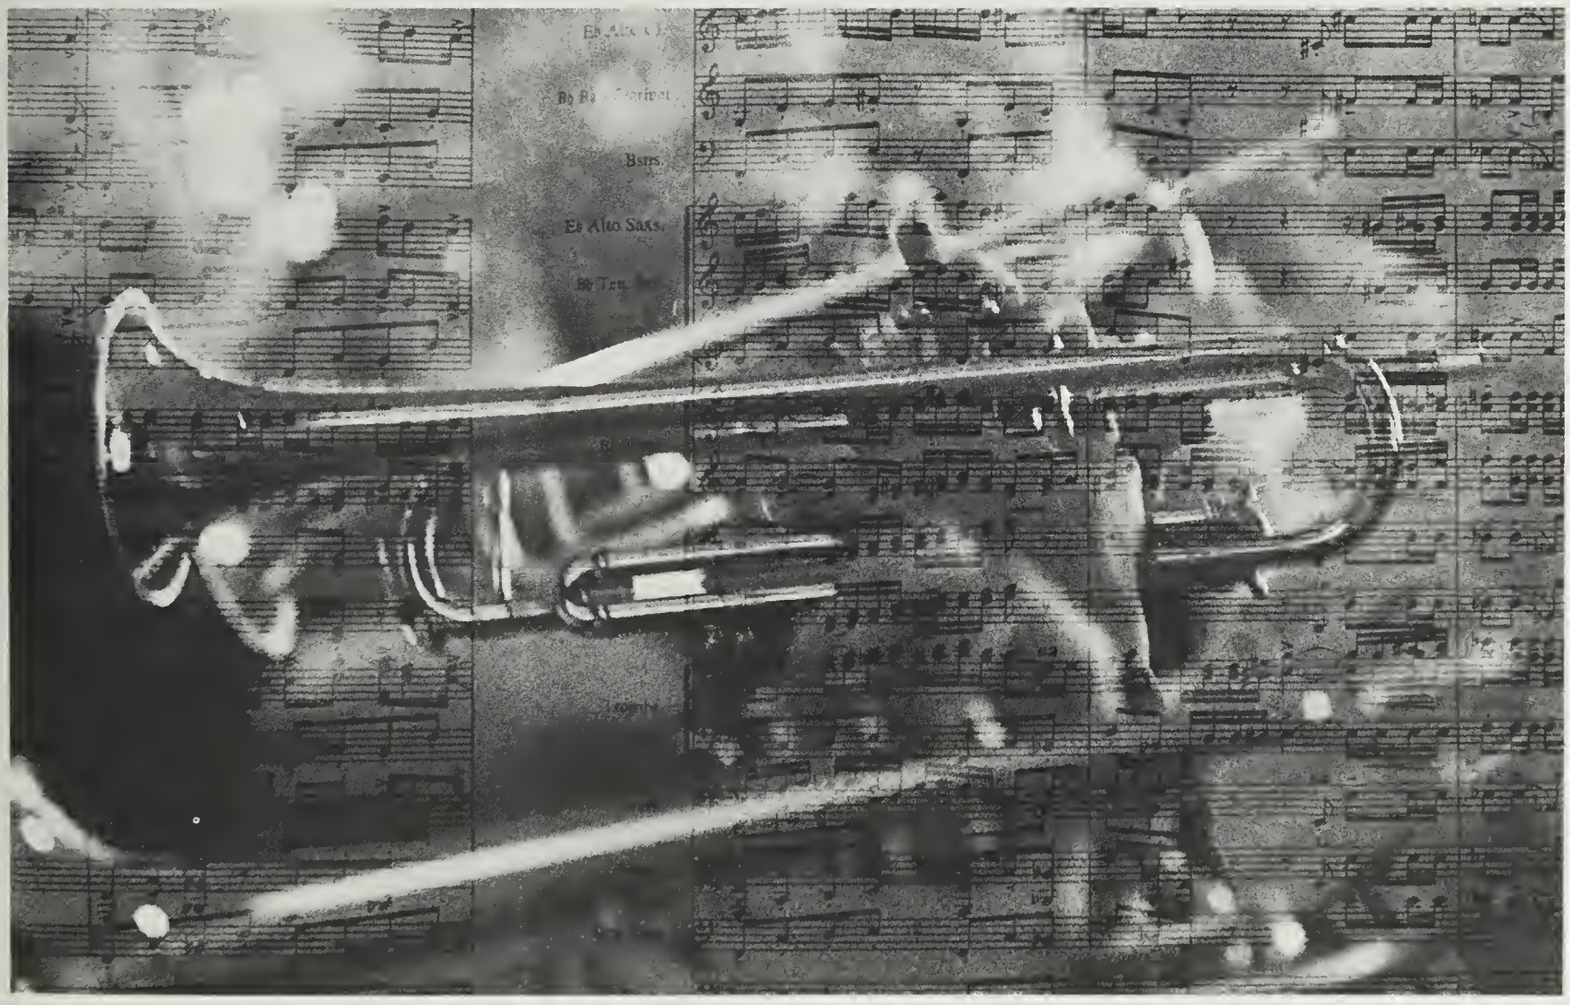
Drama requires that personality sublimation and transformation occur in order to produce an experience of dimension and reality from an artificial and contrived chain of events. Perhaps it is easier to play a dramatic role than to live a veritable life, since the fate of each actor is already delineated and determined. Imagination comes to supplant season.



Wholesome recreation for the mind and body abounds within our walls, and such recreation is as fascinating and diverse as one may choose.



From inanimate contraptions they coax tones and melodies somewhat imitative of the voice, and which yet astronomically exceed its capacity for harmony and variety. Not only can musical instruments reflect human emotions and thoughts, but they are actually capable of creating qualities and patterns intrinsic to themselves upon the human conscious and subliminally awaken what was always there.



Glancing back at our lives we find strewn here and there the memories of little victories—over limitations of self, over the other team. Or maybe you beat up some guy you thought was a real jerk. Some things get trophies. Most don't. It doesn't matter. You know you did, and you can think back with pride.

Dust to dust; but while a living soul, man fashions palpable images which, like him, must return dust-ward. But never without having brought an eternal enduring suggestion that there is that which lasts forever.

Person-person interactions are a much-studied and much-neglected subject at Groveton. We find that some people are more loving and tactful than others.

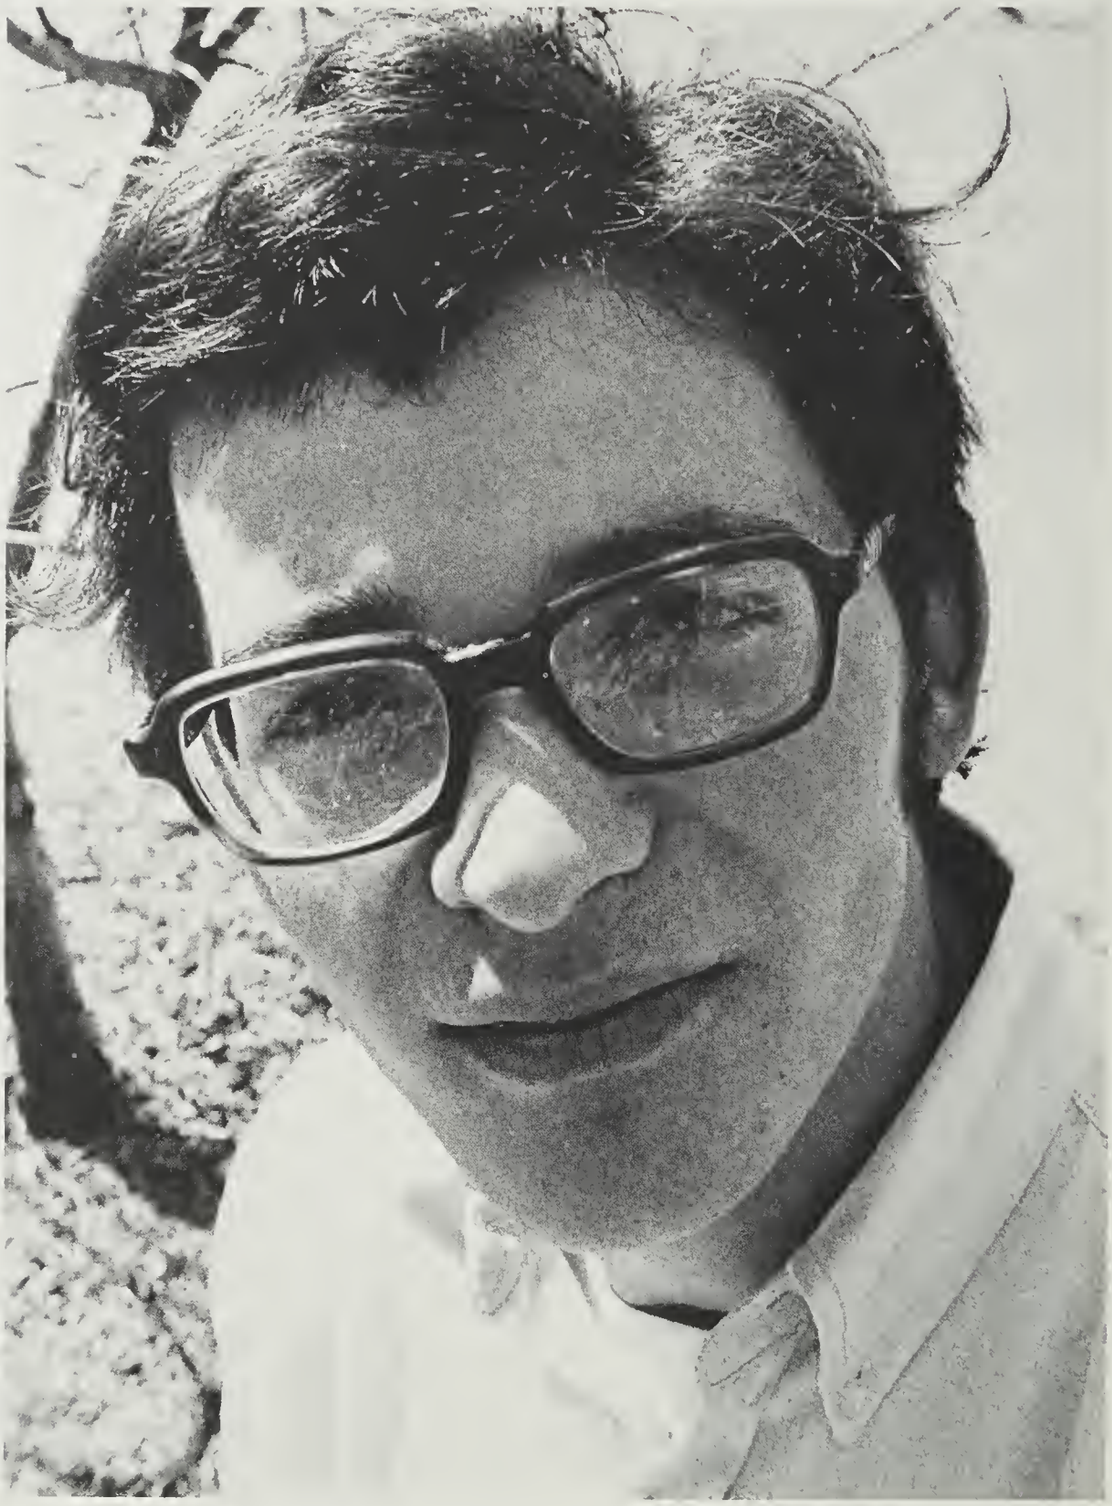
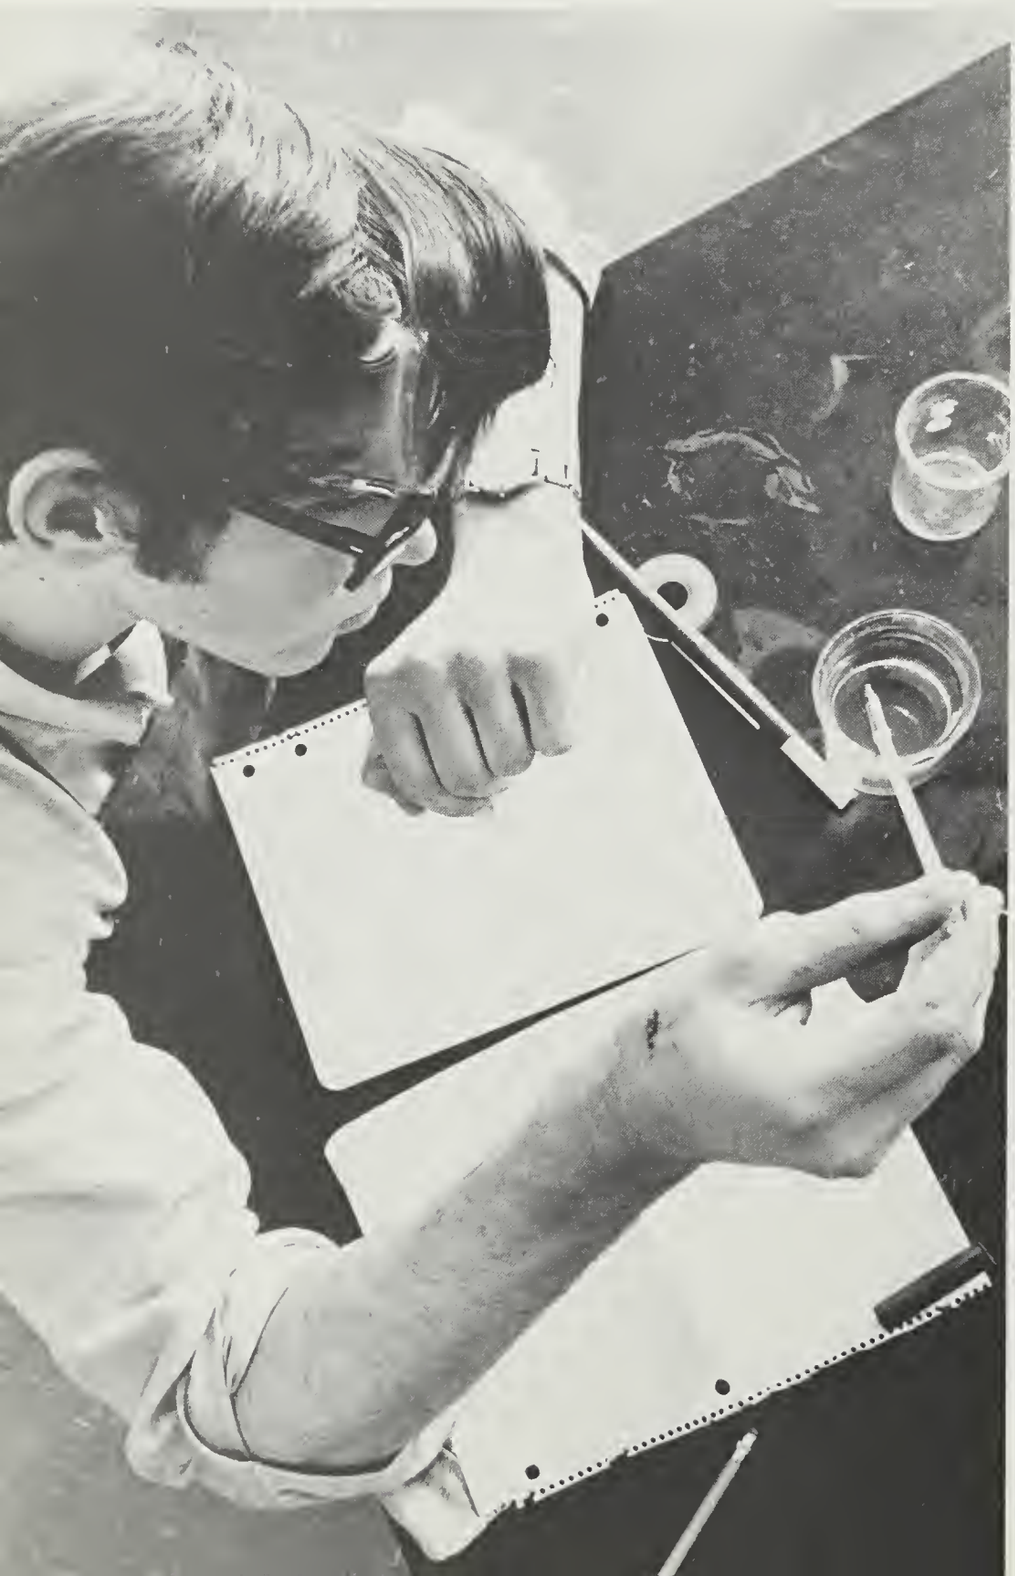
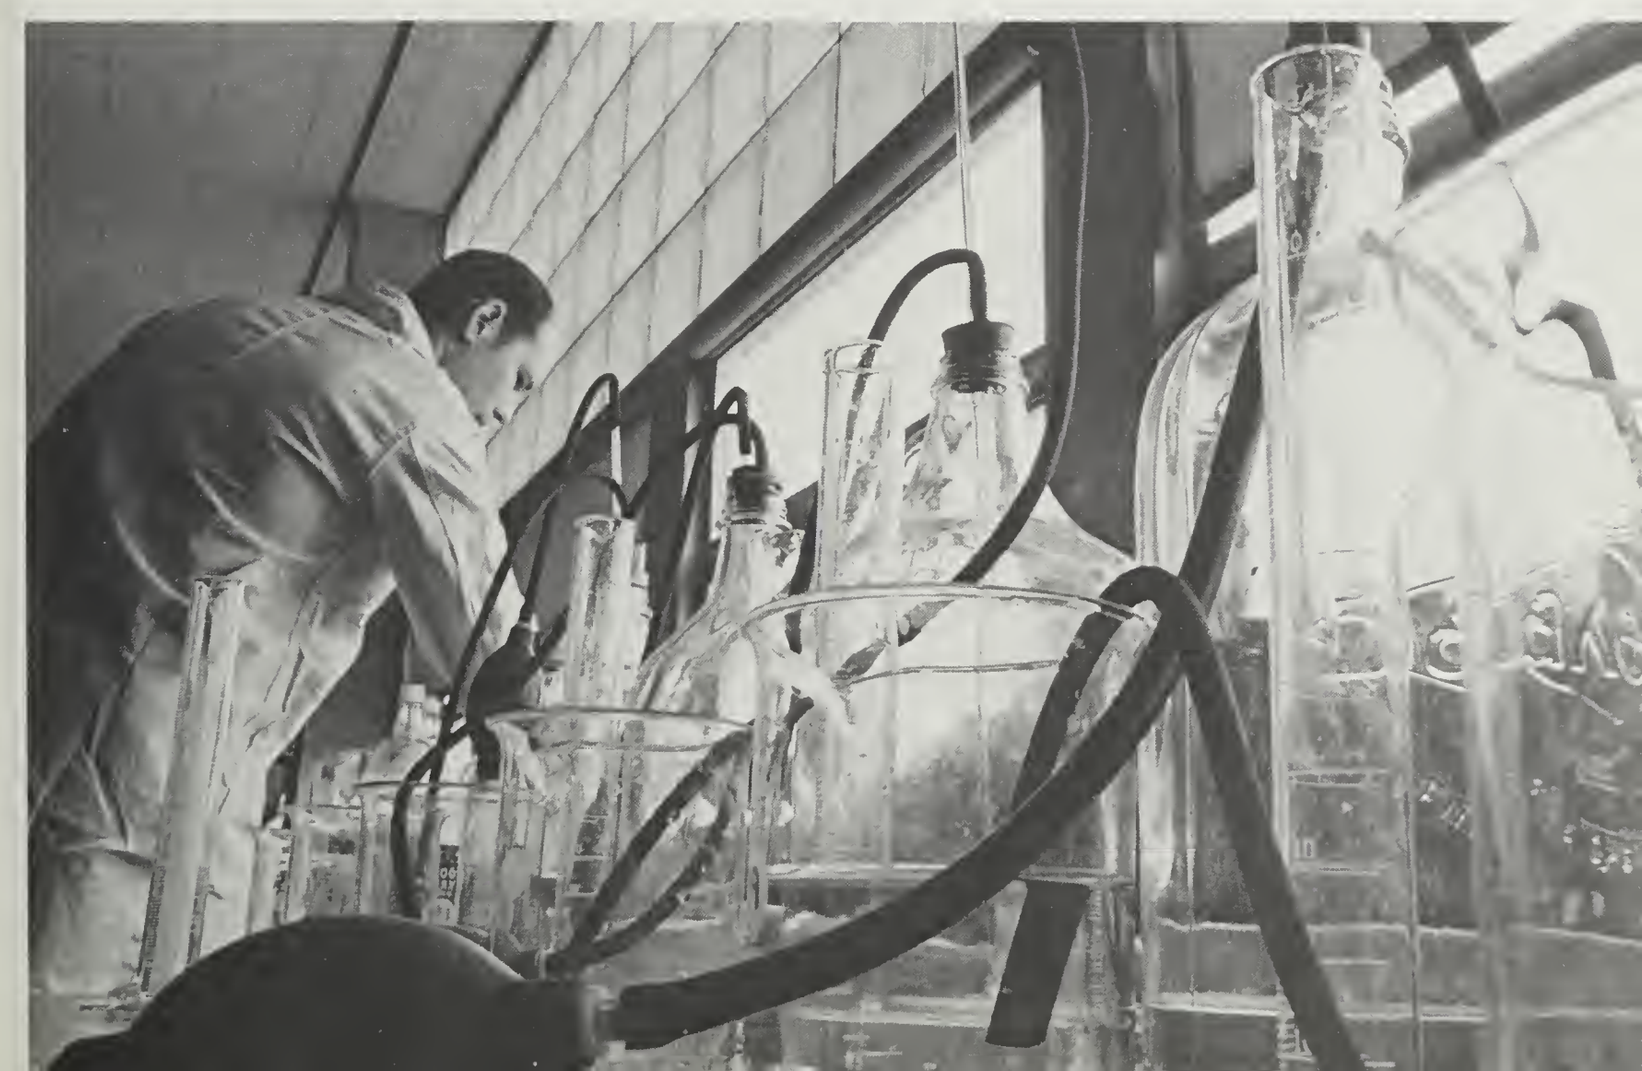
The presence of Dom and Dion at Groveton was amazing, natural, singular, plural, serene, inspiring, unaffected, perspicacious, understanding, and somehow very right, and it rewarded us all.



In school, as everywhere, we find the juxtaposition of the eerie and the natural. The discriminating and experienced observer knows that both natural and unnatural are to a purpose, and such a one can quietly feel and frame the beauty of each.



The true scientist is humble: he knows how little he really knows. He can join the poet in contempletion of nature, but is not content with grandiloquent pronouncements. His search for the "how" extends from the infinite to the infinitasimal, but he can only take a crack at the "why."



We turn our attention naturally to the things of importance to us, and ignore all else. Truth and reality are, after all, more attractive. We try to get ahead in our quest of truth, either actively or passively.

You just can't deny that there's something beautiful about the human face.

Sometimes, I mean. Some characters are better just not looked at.

STUDENT COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

Every year these poor devils are faced with the task of keeping Groveton running. And they do the job. No thanks from any of the students. But threaten or suspend one student right (read: privilege), and wow! The pore SCA is riddled with verbal flak.

And every year the SCA keeps Groveton going and is taken for granted.

Poor devils.

HOME ROOM REPRESENTATIVES

Inspectors-general: emissaries of Czar Bill, charged with the dispensing of subpoenas, trinkets, etc. to the hard-core natives of the ticky-tacky homeroom ghettoes. You may call them a lot of things, like dumbbells and that sort of stuff, but really they're just like you and me.

HONOR COUNCIL

Lord knows they tried.

Members: Seated: C. Dahlin, K. Carr, M. Cuniberti; Standing: J. Kelly, C. Walske, L. Weston, J. Phillips, A. Brickelmaier (Chairman)

TIGERAMA

Goal: construction of microcosm: orderly, symbolic, symbolic, symmetric. Synthesis of an exuberant, monotonous, agonizing, seemingly endless. fleeting school year's experience. Or perhaps one could say that the yearbook is actually the means to a more intangible end: defining us, here. Trigger the memory-waves. Us. We hope it's good.

Their mission, improbable: to gather Groveton news, wherever and whenever it can be found. Now you see why it took them two months to get the first paper out.

ONEIRATA

Communication of thought by word: establishing qualitative conditions by arrangement of sequences in thought and image: relentless probing of cerebrum for the reason, through baneful humanness and the inner parallax. Selective intuitive interpretation of Homo sapiens in/out of context: attempt to verbalize the important, enduring, ineffable. To wheeze with the grunion in the cyclic sand; to shed the scales and give thanks; to hold hands with all living things and cry, I Am.

BAND

These people enjoy blowing horns, playing with drums and things like that. Not that I'm against it. Which brings us to an interesting sidelight. Have you oiled your maracas recently?

MADRIGALS

The madrigal was sung to amuse the singers as much as the listeners, a secular tune of pleasing lyric sung without accompaniment. The intention of the Groveton madrigal singers is the same as their forerunners of four hundred years ago: to create rich a cappella harmony of a handful of stout voices, singing personal, communicative songs of lasting pleasure and import.

Members: First Row: K. Dodge, C. Tenny, B. Tanner, P. Howett, M. Harlow, J. Coletti, T. Hodges, T. Elliott, E. Stratton, R. Bailey, C. Lyons, C. Gallant, C. Grimes, L. McGuire; Second Row: S. SYMPHONIC CHOIR

There is no musical instrument as sensitive—nor as fragile—as the human voice. When well-trained, its intrinsic timbre and modularity are unequaled in production of pleasing sound. Tonal quality, tonal color, and harmony are best exemplified in the work of a sizable group of people who love to sing. The Symphonic Choir is such a group. It endeavors to utilize the full musical potential of the human voice.

ART GUILD

What is an artist? Perhaps he is one who begins with the same raw materials, tactile and mental, as his peers, but reaches by degrees a special and unique awareness, an appreciation of the beautiful, and an attempt to emulate beauty as he sees it, to create beautiful things of his own.

That which the artist creates, he is. In creating a thing of beauty, the artist feels rush upon him the awareness that in his consciousness is beauty. This work is his thought objectives. In recognizing the art of others, we acknowledge that this same consciousness of beauty is within them. The Art Guild is a group of young artists who share a concern for aesthetic quality and a desire to produce objects of beauty and purpose.

THESPIANS

Assuming the psyche, mannerisms and appearance of another being to the point of complete, if temporary, credence is a most difficult and demanding task. But difficult or no, the actor's art is in no wise unnatural nor confined to thespians, in whom is found its quintessence: how many of us can claim patterns of speech, dress, behavior, yes, thinking completely and uniquely our own? The thespian aims to make us as aware of this as of the reality and ubiquity of the characters and situations he portrays.

STAGE CREW

A coiner of cliches might deem them "the backbone of the drama department," and it is true that without the props and sound/lighting effects of the stage crew, the presentations would be as disadvantaged as an amoeba sans vacuoles. Very often the spectator is not aware of the large role (ho ho) of the stage crew in creating a performance which engages the audience in a real-seeming experience, while remaining faithful to the playwright's design. It requires as much imagination as acting itself.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE CLUB

Through personal contact with representatives of other countries, other cultures, xenophobia reluctantly dies, supplanted by the happy knowledge that all men are fundamentally the same, yet in innumerable minutae fascinatingly different. Such friendships lead ultimately to higher loyalties and higher views of mankind, and through foreign eyes we are offered a fresh view of ourselves.

AFRO AMERICAN HISTORY CLUB

The objective is to understand and make understood the black experience, and explain the exploitation and terrorization of black people in America and the suppression of their achievements for three hundred and fifty years. They recognize, also, that the black struggle for equality is far from over and therefore has not yet receded into finished history. Their intention is to make the struggle a thing of the past through attainment by the blackman of his God-given freedom. They take the greatness of the black past as a guide to future consummation of the black freedom struggle through awareness of the proud black heritage and the white man's legacy of recalcitrance and shame.

DEBATE TEAM

A cause, a side is given them to champion. They must defend it with logic and with evidence. Cerebral thrusts and parries, to avail in later life when quick, clear thinking is demanded.

MATH TEAM

Math rocks. Strictly copacetic. Give them a problem, and the pencils fly. A correct solution occasionally. Would that the processes and experiences of our lives more resembled loci of smooth, continuous curves such as those the math team encounters.

LATIN HONOR SOCIETY

Latin is one of my favorite languages even though I don't take it. With this in mind, let me conjecture that LHS members are the pick of the Latin Students and therefore are capable of reciting any paradigm you might care to name. And remember, kind reader, that although Superman loses his powers under a red sun, the language you save might become your own.

Understanding and appreciating the rich Roman legacy is the desire of the members of the Latin Club. Two thousand years have not changed man! The humanist's search for truth in antiquity remains a worthy and fruitful one. Could not the lessons of Cannae have averted Austerlitz or Dienbienphu?

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

Being a wife and mother is as much an occupation as being a defense analyst. More of one, actually. It's a 24-hour work day, unpaid, with no vacation. And you can't retire. People may belittle cooking, meal planning, and housework, but help is in short supply. There's nothing like a home-cooked meal, and the alternatives—ycch! Lums or TV dinners. The little woman may not always enjoy the routine, but at least it keeps her busy.

FUTURE NURSES OF AMERICA

They serve the common welfare through helping the sick and troubled. An encouraging word, a bit of patience and reassurance are the partial panacea which they learn they cannot afford to ignore.

Members: Seated: J. Hartung, V. Conley, R. Kelso, L. Riehle (Sec.-Treas.); Standing: P. Durda (V. Pres.), B. Michael, S. Montgomery (Pres.), R. Minix

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

They share the belief that communication of ideas from one mind to another can be the most rewarding possible profession, and indeed it is. There is nothing so gratifying as success in enriching the understanding of another person. But the students in FTA who observe cannot fail to see that at present there is more meaningful learning outside the classroom than in it. Myriads of sheer data injected or spoonfed daily will be regurgitated, not retained, for students will not submit to the memory-bank treatment. That is not communication, and FTA members recognize this fact: they themselves are students. Their challenge, then, is to remain students in spirit,—to dare to communicate meaningfully in a harmonious human relationship. Everyone wants to learn. It is time the schools began to teach.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB OF AMERICA

They're trained to bring the people the goods and services they need. Their common goal is the satisfaction their skills will bring, in doing the job and doing it well. They learn that a day's work well done can do as much for self esteem as for the customers.

CHESS CLUB

Intellects square off, and other games come to mind. A death-battle on the board, for stakes of ego only. The ancient pecking order must be maintained, and one of you must either die or spend his days in a strategic Nod. When it's over you pick up your dead, and they're alive again. Unrealistic, but convenient, and wherever you go you'll find quondam Napoleons giving it the old college try.

BRIDGE CLUB

They take the tricks without a qualm;
Each thinks the game is in his palm.
But it's always either "Them" or "Us"—
They shouldn't stir up such a fuss.

Members: Seated: S. Dahlin, S. Walske (Pres.), M. Vickers, S. Stewart, B. Schmidt; Standing: S. Sanders, W. Williams, P. Goschke, Mrs. Turner (Sponsor)

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

They're clannish, and have a right to be: they've been through a lot. The ties of athletic achievement unite them, but the laurels drop when they're together. The uniqueness of each athlete's experience falls before common memories and a shared loyalty. In these two organizations athletic excellence finds a well-deserved place.

HUMAN RELATIONS COMMITTEE

When an impasse occurs in group-to-group relations, initiatives must be taken to renew communications between the conflicting parties so the common welfare is served. From its inception the Human Relations Committee has done its best to promote racial tolerance and understanding among the students of Groveton High School. It took a crisis to establish the committee, and the necessity for the existence of a Human Relations Committee underscores the fact that much—very much—remains to be done.

STUDENT FACULTY ADVISORY COMMITTEE

They want to be the living link between their fellow students and the administrators at Groveton. Perhaps only they can really know the responsibilities and duties such a function entails. The important thing is to get problems out into the open and present workable, realistic solutions. There are always plenty of complaints. It's finding alternatives that always gets 'em. Which is SFAC's thing.

Gathering experience, preparing for the big-time. No easy job, this: keep cheering even when they're getting creamed. But a positive attitude is its own reward.

Freshmen

Fledgling spirits test their talents in support of their freshman teams. It's a learning experience that trains and prepares the good material for the increased pressures and competition of the higher-up.

PING PONG TEAM

Masters of deceit—convincing the whole school that ping pong is a bona-fide sport. Fie on them! The blackguards! They'll rue the day they spun their first ball!

PRODUCTION NOTES

Much of this may be unimportant stuff to you, in which case I want to apologize for not having been able to know and remember with you all the special events in your personal experience at Groveton this year. I hope what I've written is a help.

Claude Jones and Crank and folk musicians came to Groveton. We liked them very much.

Then there were the Drama presentations: Arthur Miller's The Crucible, Lorraine Hansbury's To Be Young, Gifted and Black, and several medieval plays. Except for The Crucible, these plays were a part of the English Department's Humanities Enrichment Program (HEP). In addition, there were lunch-shift productions whenever there were people enough.

In the Groveton District Drama Festival the Thespians got a rating of Excellent for their production of Abraham and Isaac.

The Choral Department presented several concerts in the course of the year, including the notorious "Or Would You Rather Be . . .?"

VICA students Becky Welch and Tim Elliott swept Northern Virginia and the entire state to be selected VICA Students of the Year. It was unprecedented for two students from the same school to win the contest for the top two places in the whole state.

Debbi White won the Daughters of the American Revolution award for Groveton High School. Groveton's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow was Meg Jonas. Steve Shenker came in first in prose reading in the state forensics competition.

All five of Groveton's National Merit Semifinalists were also Finalists: Ted Broida, John Holmes, Meg Jonas, Janet McConnaughey, and Steve Shenker. Shenker was selected a Merit Scholar.

The It's Academic team was eliminated in the first round by Springbrook High by a margin of only ten points.

Groveton sent four delegates to the newly-formed Area I Student Advisory Council: SCA president Bill Radin, elected representatives Tom Sowanick and Wally Anderson, and appointee Marco Cuniberti. When Radin was elected Area I chairman, Don Witten was picked to fill his vacancy in the Groveton delegation. Later in the year a County-wide council convened, with Marco Cuniberti representing Groveton.

Varsity debate finished with an honorable if not enviable record, with Negs Fred Horecky and Jon Orleans third in the Gunston District and Affs Sue Seligmann and Terri Rybarczyk in fourth. Switchsiders Tom Ward and Wes Williams also finished fourth in their category. The first-place negative speaker award went to Jon Orleans, while Fred Horecky won the third-place negative speaker award.

Six Groveton artists' works were among thirty-four selected by judges for exhibition at the Hecht Art Gallery in February: Becky Ellis, Marie Ferritto, Becky Levine, Martha McDaniel, Sara Frye, and Carol Walske. Carol's entry later went to New York to compete nationally.

The English Department's HEP program was highly successful. It consisted of four units: American folklife, the American black experience, the Church in medieval society, and realism. Elizabeth Cotton, Mike Seeger, and John Jackson's performances as part of HEP were particularly well-received.

The SCA drafted a new constitution featuring an entirely new governmental system centered around community precincts and strict representation which it hoped would successfully replace the homeroom representatives' forgotten function.

The new County Dress Code ruling was appreciated insofar as it let it all hang out. Almost all of it, anyway.

The Symphonic Band received a superior rating from each of three judges at the District Band Festival at West Springfield High. It was the fifth year in a row that the band, under Mr. Wells's direction, was so honored. No other band in the district has equalled their record.

At the Fall Sports Awards Night, Nancy Perkins received the Outstanding Player award for hockey, while Bonnie Tanner got the award for sportsmanship. Most Outstanding Football Player went to Skip Scott; Russ Seward was cited the Most Improved Player. Mike Clark, Cross Country captain, received the Sportsmanship award, and Charlie Bish was named the Most Outstanding legwork man. Skip Scott also was honored for making All-Gunston District defense.

In Winter Sports, wrestler Ian Brandau was the recipient of the Sportsmanship award. The Outstanding Wrestler title, not surprisingly, went to John Keith, who placed first in the district and regional contests and second in the state of Virginia. Roundballers Jack Jackson and John Smith shared the Best Player award, while Don Witten received the award for sportsmanship on the courts.

Winners of the Roadeo during Safety Week were Donna Martin for girls and Bradford, Rex Smith for boys.

As part of new County School Superintendent Watts's "Staff Development" program, Groveton learned that it would lose both Mr. Taylor and Mr. DiGiosia next year. It is perhaps only in losing them that Groveton students realize the extent of their service to the students and to the school community.

The Editor and Staff extend their special thanks to Jody Carr for all the invaluable help she provided in the production of this yearbook.

In Memory of David King
Greg Rogers
Leslie Sebold

Death, be not proud, for some have called thee
Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so;
For those whom thou think'st thou dost overthrow
Die not, poor Death; nor yet canst thou kill me.
From rest and sleep, which but thy picture be,
Much pleasure; then from thee much more must flow;
And soonest our best men with thee do go—
Rest of their bones and souls' delivery!
Thou'rt slave to fate, chance, kings, and desperate men,
And dost with poison, war, and sickness dwell;
And poppy or charms can make us sleep as well
And better than thy stroke. Why swell'st thou then?
One short sleep past, we wake eternally,
And Death shall be no more: Death, thou shalt die!
—John Donne

Happy trails to you
Till we meet again.
